Labels are your best friend when it comes to pantry organisation!

Pantry looking cluttered? It may be time for a makeover. Declutter expert Deanna Zacharia, founder of The Sorted Home, shares her expertise on how to get organised...

1 Dump and Declutter
"Empty everything out of your pantry and lay it all out on the counter or table top. It's time to say, 'Thank you, next' to anything that's expired or that you no longer need. Do you have any unopened items that are still good? Donate them to your local food bank. Anything that's past its prime? Throw it out. Throw away and recycle any empty boxes or containers.

"This will give you a better idea of what you have and what you need."

pasta, cereals and snacks at eye level for easy access."

4 Decant "Treat yourself to some good quality food storage containers that are not only functional but also match your style. Decant the foods you choose into clear, airtight containers to store bulk items like grains, pasta, and snacks. Not only does this keep them fresh for longer, but it also makes it easier to see how much you have left. Plus, decanting your items can free up space in your pantry. Use labels to mark the containers and make it easy to find what you need."

example, keep baking supplies in one container and your snacks in another. This will make it easier to find what you need and keep your pantry tidy."

3 Designate "Assign each shelf or area of your pantry a specific purpose. For example, use the top shelf for items that you don't use as often, such as party supplies or special occasion serving dishes. Keep everyday items like

5 Design "Don't forget to add some personality to your pantry with a fun wallpaper or a pop of colour. This is an opportunity to get personality into your kitchen. There are plenty of options out there, from clear plastic bins to natural woven baskets. Install some open shelving to show off your collection of cookbooks. The key is to make your pantry a space that you love to look at and use every day."
